DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 6-16 objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim shall not serve as a basis for any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 6-16 have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dietle et al. (USP 5,765,637).

With respect to claim 1, Dietle et al. discloses a method of installing a sensor located in a carrier on the outside of a casing, comprising the steps of positioning the casing (6) in a well, cementing (52) the casing in position, positioning a drilling tool (14) inside the casing level with the carrier (see figure 4 and column 5 lines 40-52), drilling through the casing, carrier and cement into the formation surrounding the well so as to create a fluid communication path (see figure 3 and 4), and sealing the hole drilled in the casing (see figure 5).

Art Unit: 3672

With respect to claim 2, Dietle et al. discloses that the drilling and sealing operations are preferably performed using a tool that is run into the well so as to be positioned adjacent the carrier, the tool being removed from the well after the drilling and sealing operations are completed (wherein the projectile is removed once it has been used).

With respect to claim 3, Dietle et al. discloses that the tool is used to create a drawdown across the drilled hole to produce reservoir fluid through the hole and clean it of debris and skin damage (wherein the tool is cleaned as samples are being taken).

With respect to claim 4, Dietle et al. discloses making a direct measurement of formation pressure prior to sealing the hole (see column 5 lines 50-52).

With respect to claim 5, Dietle et al. discloses that the drilling and sealing operations are repeated at intervals throughout the life of the well (see abstract).
